In accordance with a notice being timely posted with the Secretary of State and there being a quorum present, the Chair of the Committee, Jarvis V. Hollingsworth, called the meeting to order.

For the record and in line with our investment policy, Regent Hollingsworth stated there had been specific actions taken with regards to a couple of managers in the Endowment Fund:

• During the May committee meeting, the committee agreed to delegate authority to Regent Hollingsworth regarding a recommendation by Cambridge to invest an additional $5.8 million with Wellington Diversified Inflation Hedge. This recommendation was approved and the investment was made effective July 1, 2011.

• During the June monthly performance conference call, Cambridge notified the committee participants that the portfolio manager for the REIT product, in which we invested, was leaving the firm. Given this significant personnel change, the committee members on the call agreed that Salient should be terminated immediately. Salient was terminated effective June 30, 2011. Cambridge recommended investing the $3.6 million of Salient proceeds in State Street Global Advisors, our existing indexed, large cap equity manager. This action was completed on July 14, 2011.

After these actions were announced, Regent Hollingsworth continued with the meeting.

The first item requiring committee approval was the approval of the minutes from the Endowment Management Committee meeting held on Tuesday, May 17, 2011.

Information/Approval Items

Regent Hollingsworth asked Hamilton Lee, from Cambridge Associates, to brief the committee on the performance of the endowed and non-endowed assets since the Endowment Management Committee’s last meeting held on May 17, 2011.

Below is an executive summary of Mr. Lee’s remarks:

Mr. Lee’s discussion points highlighted key performance of the Endowment and included a market commentary. Despite rallying in late June, broad-based global equity and domestic equity markets ended the second quarter flat with the MSCI World and S&P 500 returning 0.5% and 0.1%, respectively (all returns in U.S. $ terms). Commodities sustained a significant correction, losing almost 8.0% for the quarter on fears of an economic slowdown. U.S. Treasuries were up 2.4%, and the dollar ended the quarter down 1.8% in trade weighted terms.

The University of Houston’s Endowment returned 1.0% for the quarter, besting both the Implementation and Dynamic Benchmarks by 90 bps. For the trailing one-year period, the Endowment has gained 19.3%, due to strong performance from U.S. equities (+34.6%), global equities (+27.6%), and inflation hedging assets (+23.4%). The portfolio benchmarks, approved at the May meeting were reflected in the University’s performance reports. The Benchmark Update section reiterated the composition of these approved benchmarks and outlined minor changes that had been made to the inflation hedging components of both benchmarks. Additionally, a Watch List benchmark legend had been included in order to specify the applicable manager benchmark that would be used for Watch List purposes. In future discussion materials, this exhibit will be included along with the Watch List. This issue was discussed at length.

Mr. Lee outlined the decision items and recommendations that the committee would address at the meeting:
1. Approve changes to both the composite inflation hedging benchmark and Wellington Diversified Inflation Hedges portfolio benchmark;
2. Approve a $1.5 million partial redemption from York Capital Management;
3. Approve a $6.0 million investment in absolute return manager, Covalent Capital Partners (Offshore), L.P.; and
4. Approve $4.0 million commitment to Denham Commodity Partners VI, L.P.

Mr. Jeff Blazek, from Cambridge Associates, gave the committee an overview of the current market. Below is a brief summary of his remarks:
- Flat quarter for U.S. equities; significant drop in commodity prices in 2Q;
- Equities by County and U.S. Sector were addressed with strong gains in France and Germany but U.S. financials weak;
- U.S. recovery is unusually soft, relative to the substantial size of the recession;
- Greek bond insurance has surged; Euro relatively stable;
- S&P 500 earnings are approaching all-time highs; and cash continues to build;
- Small businesses are not bouncing back which is not an ideal situation for job creation;
- Consumers remain under pressure – inflation is hindering spending, while wages are sluggish;

An update and summary on composite benchmark was addressed. Modified benchmarks approved at the May 17, 2011 meeting are now in place. Flash and Performance Reports now incorporate the following benchmarks:
1. Implementation Benchmark
2. Dynamic Benchmark
3. CPI + 5.5% Benchmark

An updated Composite Benchmark was included in the report and the only change in this composite versus the May meeting version was changing the inflation hedge portfolio benchmark from “Wellington DIH” to a “Custom IH Benchmark” that Cambridge believes is more appropriate. The Custom IH Benchmark is an equal weighted blend of TIPS, commodities, REITS, and natural resource equities.

The Watch List Legend which formally identifies how each individual manager will be measured for Watch List purposes will be included in the Watch List section in future materials.

Gene Lohmeyer, from Cambridge Associates, presented the committee with the Hedge Fund Program recommendations for consideration and approval. Mr. Lohmeyer stated Cambridge recommended that the University of Houston invest $6.0 million with Covalent Capital Partners, an opportunistic, event-driven hedge fund focused on companies and industry sectors undergoing turmoil. The fund’s key characteristics are as follows:

- Talented and experienced investment team;
- Flexible and opportunistic mandate; and
- Modest fund size

Cambridge believes that Covalent is an excellent complement to the University’s existing hedge fund holdings based on the investment team’s ability to pursue smaller, less publicized event-driven opportunities and the fund’s historically low correlation to other hedge funds and broad equity markets.

The summary of the Covalent Capital Partners’ terms are as follows:

- Management Fee – 1.75%
- Incentive Fee – 20%
- Liquidity – Quarterly with 60 days’ notice, 25% investor level gate

Mr. Lohmeyer also addressed the rebalancing of the hedge fund portfolio recommending a $1.5 million redemption from York Capital Management as of December 31, 2011; notice is due by November 15, 2011.

On a motion from Regent Ray, seconded by Regent Wise, and by a unanimous vote of the committee members in attendance, the committee approved the delegation of authority to the Chancellor to negotiate and execute a contract for the hiring of Covalent Capital Partners and the recommendation that the University of Houston invest $6.0 million for the University of Houston System Endowment Fund. This recommendation required committee approval only.

On a motion from Regent Ray, seconded by Regent Wise, and by a unanimous vote of the committee members in attendance, the recommendation to rebalance the hedge fund portfolio by approving a $1.5 million redemption from York Capital Management as of 12/31/2011 was approved. This recommendation required committee approval only.

Regent Hollingsworth requested a 10 minute recess at 2:25 p.m.; and at 2:35 p.m. Regent Hollingsworth reconvened the committee meeting.

Mr. Phil Fiske, from Cambridge Associates, presented the committee with the recommendation that the University of Houston commit $4.0 million to Denham Commodity Partners Fund VI, LP.
There were several issues discussed regarding this recommendation:

- Denham’s vision and global expansion plans differentiates the manager from other energy managers who are focused on the United States. The key for Denham is to remain focused on familiar risks, reproduce their successful model, and source deals through the firm’s well-connected team of professionals.
- Denham is comfortable with more risk than other managers focused on the energy sector. The distribution of returns is biased toward the positive end of the range, which is evidence of Denham’s efforts to structure deals to limit downside. Diversity of asset types, management teams, regions and industries, together with the firm’s intensive risk management program, may ultimately outweigh any additional risks introduced by Denham’s strategy.

Mr. Fiske stated that Denham is an attractive investment opportunity and would provide the University of Houston’s private investments portfolio with diversified exposure to natural resources, a segment of the market that Cambridge views as particularly attractive in today’s market environment. A lengthy discussion followed.

The summary of Denham’s Commodity Partners Fund VI, LP expected terms are as follows:

- Management Fee – 2.0% on commitments up to $2.0 billion and 1.75% on commitments above $2.0 billion. After commitment period, 1.5% on net invested capital
- GP Commitment – 2.0%
- Carried Interest – 20% after 8% preferred return
- Fee Sharing – 100% to LPs, offset against management fees
- Investment Period – 5 years after the final closing.

On a motion from Regent Wise, seconded by Regent Ray, and by a unanimous vote of the committee members in attendance, the committee agreed to delegate to Regent Hollingsworth authority regarding the proposed $4.0 million investment in Denham Commodity Partners Fund VI, LP and the recommendation to delegate authority to the Chancellor to negotiate and execute a contract for the hiring of Denham Commodity Partners Fund VI, LP. Regent Hollingsworth stated that additional due diligence needs to be completed on this manager before any decision is made to invest in this fund. This recommendation requires committee approval only.

There being no further business to come before the Committee, the meeting adjourned at 3:02 p.m.

All documentation submitted to the Committee in support of the foregoing action items, including but not limited to “Passed” agenda items and supporting documentation presented to the Committee, is incorporated herein and made a part of these minutes for all purposes; however, this does not constitute a waiver of any privileges contained herein.
